

David G. Mongan, P.E., F.ASCE is the president of the architectural/engineering firm of Whitney, Bailey, Cox & Magnani, in Baltimore, MD which provides professional services in highway and bridge engineering, architectural design of institutional, commercial and industrial buildings, transportation planning, environmental engineering, land development and site engineering, landscape architecture, design of waterfront and marine-related facilities, construction inspection, and field surveying.

He is currently President-Elect of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He has served on numerous national committees and chaired the Summit on the Future of Civil Engineering. He received numerous awards, including the ASCE Maryland Section's 1998 Civil Engineer of the Year, the Engineering Society of Baltimore's 1999 Engineer of the Year and the 2003 William H. Wisely American Civil Engineer Award. He has been active in the business community, serves as Chair of the ACEC-Maryland Legislative Committee, and is on the Maryland Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

He received Bachelor's and Master's degrees in civil engineering from the University of Maryland and a Master's of Business Administration from Loyola College.